Learning to say 'NO'

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - "We try to teach the kids there are different ways to say 'no.'" So did Sergeant Stephen Webb of the Millbury Police Department sum up the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program planned for the Millbury Public Schools in the fall and currently underway at Assumption School. Recent approval of the program by the Millbury School Committee will see seven 5th grade public school classes participating in this combined effort of the Millbury Police Department and the Millbury School department.

Although the course is available to all age groups, it will be offered to 5th graders next year because "9-10 years old are at the age where they're usually most easily susceptible to pressures. Plus," Webb said, "when I walk in, that's the age when they can look at me and they believe everything I say. We're getting them at the age when they're just learning about the many pressures that are going to try to influence them with alcohol, smoking and marijuana."

Webb, who offers a portion of his services for the course on a voluntary basis, said the program does not attempt to deal with "hard drugs," but with so-called "gateway drugs" such as cigarettes. "They might be tempted to try their first drink, too," Webb said, "and graduate from there to maybe smoking a joint."

The D.A.R.E. program follows a curriculum that begins with personal safety practices in the elementary grades and covers areas including building self-esteem, assertiveness, managing stress without taking drugs, media influences on drug use, decision making and risk taking, and role modeling.

The grade is selected by the individual principals. "I can instruct from K-8," Webb said. "K-3 is three or four different visits where we teach personal safety; what's a stop sign, a crosswalk; and who do we go to for our own safety. Then the 3rd and 4th graders have a higher curriculum. They will get a little more into peer pressure. In the 5th grade, they have a 17-week highly structured program. In 6th, we use a lot of role playing. I'm not just there telling them what to do. We'll say, 'Here's a can of beer,' or 'There's a party Friday night,' or 'On your way home Suzie's smoking a cigarette.' They act it out in their own way and this way nobody has the wrong answers. They get the chance to say, 'Gee, that doesn't work, or maybe that does. If we give them different ways, and they get up and actually practice them, when it does happen they'll have some answers.'"

Webb said one of the most important aspects of the program is having the children know that there is somebody who cares. As part of his approach, he does not limit the program to the confines of the classroom. "I go out and jump rope with the girls; I play basketball with the boys, or we play tag, just to let them know that I'm a real friend," he explained. "Come lunch time, I go to the cafeteria and have a hot lunch with them. At this time, they have a chance to ask me questions and I can ask them questions. I become a role model for them. Some of the questions I get hit with are things the parents should be asked. But the fact that I'm taking the time to sit down with them, the fact that a policeman sits down with them, means a lot. I don't wear a gun. I'm there as a police officer and a friend. I'm not there to enforce the law; I'm there to answer their questions."

One of the most effective tools in the program, according to Webb, is the D.A.R.E. box, which provides an opportunity for the students to ask questions without revealing their identity. The contents of the box is off limits to all but Webb. "No one is allowed to touch that box," he stressed. "The teachers can't look in it; the kids can't look in it. They put any questions they want in the world in there. If it's something they want answered in secret, I can see them during their recess. There are no names on these questions. A lot of the questions have to do with family problems, siblings, drugs in the family. All these things have to be addressed. This way, they're not embarrassed. Nobody knows whose problems are what."

The questions posed by the students range from questions over steroid use to parent's consumption of alcohol. "I tell them all the steroids come from the same place but it's the way we use or abuse them. If we abuse a doctor's prescription, we get into trouble. I try to explain by asking if anyone's been sick over the week, and if their doctor

Waters Farm Lease and Transfer Station Costs Dominate Meeting

By Alec G. Belisle

SUTTON - The Board of Selectmen had an active meeting on March 16th that saw action taken to grant the Waters Farm Preservation Society a 99 year lease. This action will launch the Society's project to make the farm a living history museum. Present for the signing were members of the Historical Commission, the Conservation Commission, and the Waters Farm Preservation Society.

Malcolm Pearson, Chairman of the Sutton Historical Commission, explained that in 1985 it became apparent that the Waters Farm Preservation Society needed some organization in order to legally conduct the business of preserving Waters Farm. This, he said, required a lease from the town to the group, which was delayed because it was discovered that a town could only lease any given property for ten years. He said he sought legislation which passed in 1986 arranging for a 99 year lease between the town and the group.

It was decided that the Historical Society had a stable background necessary for a lease arrangement. It was also concluded that the Conservation Commission, which has had authority over the farm up to this point, would also have to be a party to the lease.

Pearson said the terms of the lease were finalized in November of 1992. The Waters Farm Preservation Society was organized and incorporated in order to be able to conduct business. He explained that the Conservation Commission would sign a lease with the Historical Society which would then sign a lease with the Waters Farm Preservation, Inc.

We The People...

Says School Committee did not follow own regulations

To the Editor:

As a member of Sutton Recreation Commission, I want to voice concern with the 3 to 1 vote, one abstention, to allow Sutton Basketball Camp, a private corporation, to utilize the three school gymnasiums for the week of July 19 in addition to the week of July 7. Sutton Recreation restarted our four week program of supervised recreation for our children at the local schools this past year. The four week program had not been held due to construction of the new school facilities and corresponding groundwork during the past two years.

Neil Newton, chairman of Sutton Recreation, stated that the program centers around children ages 6 to 12 and that activities are held outside, weather permitting. My concern is that of traffic to the basketball camp and its effect upon outside activities. Also, the gymnasium is utilized to show movies if the summer heat is unbearable.

At our last Recreation meeting, we met with Elizabeth Bacon and Nora Small of the Nature Trail Committee of the Sutton PTA. Recreation is looking forward to working with the Nature Trail Committee to incorporate this town resource into our summer program. Sutton Recreation is working within a restrictive budget, and our program does require positive interaction with the school.

The Sutton School Department Use of School Facilities Application and Regulations was redrawn by the school committee in March 1992. Six categories are listed prior to commercial groups for the use of school facilities; private enterprise is to be charged $200 per day per facility; and application for summer use is to be accepted May 15 through June 15. Sutton Recreation Commission did not realize that the school committee would act upon a summer request prior to their own schedule for usage. I feel that the school committee acted inappropriately by not tabling this request until requests for summer school use by all interested parties are received. I do hope that Sutton Recreation and other youth organizations will be able to have their programs for our children.

Thank You!

I just wanted to thank Alec Belisle Jr. for helping me navigate through the mounds of snow after the March blizzard. I am grateful to him for taking the time to assist me over the icy sidewalk and escort me back to safe footing. Not many people today would stop to ask if they could be of assistance to anyone, and I want this young man to know how much I appreciated his thoughtfulness. Thanks again, Alec!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Millbury-Sutton Chronicle welcomes Letters to the Editor. However, because of space limitations, letters should be limited to no more than 300 words. We reserve the right to edit any letter in excess of that amount. Name, address, phone number, and signature must be included for verification purposes. Letters not containing all of the above will not be printed.

Because of the time it takes to verify signatures, those letters with multiple signatures will have only one name listed. Letter writers should determine which name that will be. We will include the number of other signatures on the letter. Letter writers are limited to one submission per month. No guarantee is made on a date of publication. Letters from outside the Millbury-Sutton area will be printed, space permitting.

Another Point of View

It's Better than Doing Nothing!

By Lawrence Moore

While Health Insurance is coming to a boil on the front burner in the family kitchen, Industrial Policy is simmering on hot plates in the Boardrooms and in the think tanks.

Critics are quick to point out the "failure" of Industrial Policy efforts, especially in England and in Japan. With 100% hindsight, Prime Minister Major says the economy always stumbled when the government tried to pick winners. Researchers blame government intercession for industrial inefficiency, low productivity, lagging living standards, railroad, mine and public service strikes, and the high tax system needed to support the programs.

MITI, Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Industry, has not been immune to critics. Especial delight is taken in tabulating MITI's mistakes: a plan to combine Japanese auto makers into, at most, three companies, reluctance to allow Sony into the transistor business, excess capacity in steel, aluminum and non-ferrous metals, inferior aerospace manufacture, a failed oil and petro-chemical policy, and the lack of a marketable product from the "Computer of the Future" project.

Similar short comings are cited in the areas of shipbuilding, railroads, airlines, telecommunications, the financial markets and farm policy.

Somehow, in spite of all these errors, Japan has grown to be a world leader. Japan and its agencies overseeing Manufacturing, Finance, Transport, Agriculture and Communications must have had a few successes of proportion sufficient to overcome their mistakes. The question we can't answer is, "Where would Japan be if its industrial power had been less controlled?"...possibly further ahead, perhaps a third world nation dominated by the remnants of their old feudal system, and maybe overtaken by the resident Communists.

Japan and England made the same mistake. Both ignored the potential of free enterprise, in Japan with widespread government control and in England with government ownership.

The United States is faced with the urgent need to remake its economy. Industry is leaner and meaner than ever before. But we are unable to provide good jobs for all willing to work. Something must be done.

I must believe that Clinton, warned by history, will endeavor to avoid the pitfalls into which other practitioners of industrial policy have fallen. Will there be mistakes? Will politics rear its ugly head? For sure, but I'll take errors of commission any time over errors of omission.

Breathes there the man with brain so dead who does not recognize the primacy of technological development? Clinton's objective is to "promote technology as a catalyst for economic growth by supporting the development, commercialization and deployment of new technology." Semi-conductor, computer, telecommunications, highway, automobile and aeronautics research, some on a cooperative basis with industry, are targeted. Jobs, economic growth and a better life in a better environment are the goals. It's far, far better than doing nothing!

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Selectmen review priorities with planning board

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - Millbury Selectmen met with Salo Terrace resident Terry Burke Dotson at their March 16 meeting to consider opening the town meeting warrant for an article to seek acceptance of the streets in the Elmwood Heights complex.

A discussion arose over the retention basin in the area as Board Chairman Jude Cristo questioned whether acceptance of the road would also mean acceptance of the retention basin. Also questioned was the method used by the town for overseeing the engineering work on the project. "Part time elected officials may or may not have skills in a particular area," he said. "Who picks the engineers for these subdivisions?"

"Normally," Dotson, who is also a member of the Planning Board, replied, "when a plan comes in, the Town Planner refers it to the town's engineer, so there's a double check."

Zoning Board of Appeals Chairman Richard Valentino argued that the issue rightfully belongs in his board's purview and he asked the selectmen to hold off on a vote for one year. "Everything has been done the right way," Valentino said. "This was not to go before the selectmen, only to our board. When we released part of the bond, I stipulated in our recommendation that it (the development) go through one winter before it's put before the town meeting."

Selectmen Roland Lachance agreed, saying he did not want the development to become another Paul Revere issue. "What happens if it (retention basin) doesn't work?" he asked. "Will all the homes below be flooded?"

Dotson argued that the retention pond has been in place for over three years and said there have been no complaints over the septic systems. "I live there," she said. "If anything was wrong, I would oppose this."

Cristo said the town cannot rely on anyone's personal opinion. "The selectmen seldom have any involvement in these developments," he said. "We're going to ask a lot of questions so the liability to the town is limited."

"I wouldn't allow the town to get burned," Dotson countered, "because I'd be burning myself."

The Board voted 4-0, Selectmen Donald Gauthier absent, to accept the recommendation of the ZBA to postpone placing an article on the warrant to accept the road in the subdivision until one year has passed.

Meeting with Planning Board

The selectmen met with members of the Planning Board to discuss four issues of concern to the town: 1. The Route 146 Turnpike interchange; 2. a proposal for a 2nd industrial park; 3. street lights in subdivisions; and 4. a Community Action Plan.

Cristo reported briefly on a recent meeting of the Route 146 Citizens Advisory Committee at which time Rep. Richard Moore, committee chairman, announced a proposal for a governor's conference to deal with the displacement of families and mitigation for loss of tax revenues to Worcester and Millbury.

Cristo said Millbury's concerns are focused on two primary issues: 1. loss of tax revenue and 2. the impact on land-locked homes.

Selectman Bernie Plante, who also attended the Advisory Committee meeting, said he was pleased to learn that the committee has finally agreed to discuss the loss of tax revenues.

Planning Board member Anne Kniskern said she cannot see any short term or long term gains for Millbury with the 146 project.

"Everybody talks about what a great thing the interchange will be for the city of Worcester and the Blackstone Valley," said Cristo. "But, it's going to take up a lot of prime developable land in Millbury."

Kniskern said the interchange will only provide "a quick way to get from Providence to Worcester."

Cristo countered that it will also provide easy access out of Worcester.

"Are we behind time for getting what we want," asked Planning Board member Anna Lewandowski.

"They don't want this project held up," Cristo replied. "We're getting down to crunch time."

Plante said it is now obvious to the committee that the selectmen are united in their goals. "I think our points came across very clearly," he said.

Cristo agreed and said the "town's strategy" is starting to work.

Cristo then reported on a feasibility study that is being funded by a $22,000 grant shared by Millbury and the City of Worcester for an industrial park to be located on land on the North and South sides of Route 20. The five parcels of land in Millbury are in the Oak Pond area.

Cristo said a light manufacturing operation similar to the present industrial park on Rte. 20 would be ideal for the site. "We're not in favor of a warehousing park or smokestack industries," he said. "If the feasibility study gives us the green light, we'll require some zoning changes." Also mentioned was the aquifer in the area and the possibility that the project would have to tie in to the Upper Blackstone Sewerage treatment plant.

"This is our primary recharge area," said Kniskern, "and the most densely populated area of town. Sewerage should be kept as a primary concern."

"If we can't protect the aquifer," said Cristo, "then, in my opinion, it should not be built."

Kniskern said that in a meeting with residents of the Oak Pond area three years ago, it was the general feeling that the residents would prefer to see an industrial use of the land rather than a residential use.

Other issues related to the proposal that were briefly touched on included traffic, upgrading of the Massasoit Road/Route 20 intersection, and the availability of new jobs in the park.

It was agreed to ask the Sewer Commissioners to attend one of the feasibility study meetings to discuss sewage. "If they say it's not doable," said Cristo, "that puts a crimp in it."

Under "Street Lights in Subdivisions," Lewandowski questioned why the selectmen required Miles Builders to install only four street lights for the Bengston Lane subdivision when the planning board had recommended seven?

Cristo replied that cost was the overriding factor. "Yes," he said, "optimally 7, but fiscally, 4."

Kniskern noted that the town's rules call for street lights every 300 feet.

It was decided that Administrative Assistant Earl Chase will meet with the Town Planner to go over the cost figures related to street lights.

A somewhat heated discussion arose over a request by Selectman Gerry Bleau for the town planner to complete a Community Action Plan (CAP) that would enable the Millbury Council on Aging to apply for a grant to construct a new facility. "This (CAP) is the basis for a grant," he said. "You can't apply for grants unless a CAP is done first."

Lewandowski argued that it is not the planner's job to complete the CAP. "I believe the town needs a department that concentrates on grants," she said.

Kniskern said the planning board has never received any information on the grant from COA Director Judith O'Connor. "We have no idea what we're looking at for the COA grant. We hate to use time until we do. We never said 'no.'"

"We need to get this plan in place," said Bleau.

"We need the paperwork in hand," countered Kniskern. "We never got a packet of information. We need her (O'Connor's) paperwork so we can see what we're doing."

Bleau then turned the discussion to the possibility of hiring a part time individual whose sole responsibility would be to apply for grants for the town. "It's very important to us (to apply for grants) as time goes by and our resources become more limited," he said.

The discussion on this issue continued later in the meeting under "New Business."

"I propose we find monies to put a grantor under the Board of Selectmen as a part time position whose job would be to seek out grants for the town," said Bleau. "We have some people in town who do a good job and some who don't know what a grant is. I think this position would pay for itself." Bleau noted that there are grant funds available for street lights, sewer installations, work on the Asa Waters Mansion, and other areas that would take a financial burden off the town.

Cristo asked how the position would be funded. "If we reorganize people under the Selectmen's authority," he said, "we could have to cut back or change one of our five positions."

Bleau suggested that the position be based on performance: "If no performance, go on to someone else."

The board agreed to keep the question current under "old business."

Dog Officer

Lachance addressed the position of Dog Officer and had high praise for George Royal who has announced his intention not to seek reappointment to that position. "It's a 24 hour a day job, 7 days a week," Lachance said. "He's on call 52 weeks a year. I think George has done a remarkable job." He went on to say that the town never answered Royal's concerns over being unable to collect ticket fines.

Chase said the problem lies with the courts.

Cristo said it may make sense to have an animal Control Officer for the town. "We have to find someone to do the job."

Waste Stream

Chase was instructed to ask Senator Matthew Amorello to see to it that the town receives the 5,500 recycling containers promised in a grant for the town even though the town is not going to curbside pickup. "Let's give them to the homeowners so they can compartmentalize," Cristo said.

Cristo proposed that the town ask Wheelabrator to conduct random spot checks of trash being delivered to the incinerator under Millbury's tonnage allotment to be sure it is Millbury waste. He also suggested that the town determine the weight of industrial I and II trash in town. "It will give us a better handle on our industrial waste," he said.

A motion to request spot checks was approved on a unanimous vote. The board also decided to seek a meeting in executive session with the board of health and the chief of police to discuss the issue of spot checks under the "deployment of security personnel or devices."

Grafton Road Auto

Cristo asked Chase if Building Inspector Rene Morin has replied to the board's request for additional information on Grafton Road Auto. "The due date was 30 days for a response," Cristo said. "If not, have him in to executive session to discuss his performance. He was given a specific set of things to do."

Chase asked that he be given more time to check on whether or not Morin has forwarded any information.

He was given one week to do so.

Miscellaneous

- The board granted a Common Victualer's License to R. Lapworth who will be opening a Subway franchise on Canal Street.

- Lachance raised a question over the route 146 bridge currently under repair. He said it appears to be a deliberate move by the state to leave the work unfinished. "They're killing those businesses over there," he said. "You have to feel for them. It's like going through an obstacle course. There is no consideration for anyone. If they're not going to do any more work, they should remove the barrels."

Census Forms

MILLBURY - The Annual Street list and Town Census Forms were mailed to each household at the first of the year as required by law. If you did not receive one, call the Town Clerk's Office at 865-9110. Make any corrections or changes necessary and return them immediately to the Town Clerk's Office.

Bancroft School Honor Roll

WORCESTER - The following local students have been named to the first semester Honor Roll at the Bancroft School: from Sutton - Katherine Beaton (grade 12), Julianne Keenan (grade 11), Sara Hutchinson (grade 9); from Millbury, Lydia Stein (grade 9).

Friends Meeting

MILLBURY - The Friends of the Millbury Public Library will meet Thursday, April 1, at the library. The meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m. Any adult who has paid for a single or family membership is a Friend and is eligible to attend.

Foundation seeking Apple Computer and printer

MILLBURY - The Citizens Scholarship Foundation of Millbury is in dire need of an Apple Computer and printer to be used for processing scholarship applications. This will enable them to continue to meet the needs of local youth in obtaining their goal of a higher education.

Lack of access to computer equipment will result in an application fee for each student or in the reduction of scholarship awards. The model numbers being sought are: Apple II, Apple II+, Apple IIe, or Apple IIc. Memory 48K; Disk Drive 1. If you can help, contact Lillian Stafinski, Millbury Savings Bank, 865-5811.

Open Burning Permits

MILLBURY - The Fire Department will issue Open Burning Permits on Saturdays at Fire Headquarters, Elm Street, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and Noon. Note the change in office hours. Open Burning Season runs until May 1. There is a $5.00 fee for the permit. When calling on Saturdays to activate your permit, make your call early as the office will close at Noon. The number is 865-5328.

Dog Licenses a bargain before April 1

MILLBURY - Dog licenses for 1993 are now available at the Town Clerk's Office. Licenses issued through March 31, 1993 are $7.00. Licenses issued April 1, 1993 or after will be $11.00. Take advantage of the discount fee and license your dog early. In order to license your dog, a current rabies vaccination must be in effect.

Economic development package called 'boon' to central Mass.

BOSTON - Central Massachusetts will reap the benefits of the state's new comprehensive economic development package, state Senator Matthew J. Amorello (R-Grafton) said recently.

The legislation, which was signed into law on March 9, includes a 3% investment tax credit, a $15 million emerging technologies fund, and provides for the establishment of enterprise zones.

"The combined effect of these job creation initiatives will have a tremendous positive impact on the economy for central Massachusetts," Amorello said. "The investment tax credit will give businesses in our area the incentives they need to aggressively pursue expansion."

Amorello praised the enterprise zone portion for the law as "an important step in making certain that urban areas that have been hit hard by the recession will share in our economic recovery."

Quilter's Group Forming

MILLBURY - Interested in meeting area quilters and sharing quilt making ideas and experiences? Join other quilters in the start of an area quilter's group. Swap patterns and fabric, combine orders for discounts, seek help with your quilting projects, learn and share new techniques and "how-to's," participate in group projects and more. If you like quilts and quilting, join your friends and neighbors at the Millbury Public Library, 128 Elm Street on Friday, March 26 at 6:30 pm. Refreshments will be served. For more information call 865-1181.

Houses and businesses must be numbered

BOSTON - Governor Weld signed into legislation the following law to take effect in April, 1993. "Every building in the commonwealth, including, but not limited to, dwellings, apartment buildings, condominiums, and business establishments shall have affixed thereto a number representing the address of such building."

This will greatly aid all emergency agencies to quickly respond to and locate any person in need of service.

Save the rainforest for pennies

SUTTON - As part of the 1993 "Adopt an Acre of Rainforest" Project, Diane Phaneuf's sixth grade class at Sutton Memorial Jr.-Sr. High School is sponsoring a school-wide "Penny Week" drive to raise money to save an acre (or more) of the Rio Bravo Rainforest in Belize, Central America.

Throughout the week of March 22-26, these students will collect penny donations, keep a daily chart of the number collected, sponsor a "guesstimate" of the number and weight of a jar of pennies, and then present the pennies in exchange for a check on March 29. All contributions will be used to purchase and protect the land.

This is part of the class science unit on "Save Our World" and on the responsibility of students and their families to preserve the quality of life on earth.

Recycling Funds

BOSTON - Rep. Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) and Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) have announced a recycling equipment grant award for the Town of Millbury valued at $13,475. The Department of Environmental Protection will provide Millbury with 5500 set-out containers for the collection of recyclable materials. Both legislators said they are pleased that Millbury has taken the initiative to further enhance the recycling program.

"I congratulate Millbury on their proposed program which demonstrates a commitment and a desire to build up recycling in our community," said Kollios.

clinging in our community," said Kollios.

"Recycling not only diminishes waste but is necessary for the protection of our environment," added Amorello.

Early Dismissal at High School

MILLBURY - Tuesday, March 30, will be an early release time day for grades 7-12. The High School will be dismissed at noon. The High School is being dismissed early to allow teachers to work on curriculum improvement.

Easter Bunny coming to Youth Center

MILLBURY - The Easter Bunny is coming to the Millbury Youth Center one day early for children 8 years old and under. On April 10th, an Easter skit, carnival games, prizes and other treats will be featured between 1 and 3:30 p.m. The Youth Center teenagers will plan and run this event. Look for more information next week in this newspaper.

Lenten Service

MILLBURY - John Street Baptist Church will conduct a Lenten Service at the Millbury Baptist church on Sunday, March 28, at 5 p.m. The Rev. Dr. Roosevelt Hughes will conduct the service. Dr. Hughes was the speaker at the very well received Thanksgiving Eve Service at the Millbury church. This service will provide an opportunity to experience a Black Baptist Church tradition. Public welcome.

Library closed for renovations

SUTTON - The Sutton Public Library will be closed from March 30 - April 12 in order that books and stacks may be moved and the last phase of renovation can begin.

The church is handicapped accessible.

Candidate for Selectman in Sutton

SUTTON - James F. "Jimmy G" Gvazdauskas has announced his candidacy for a three-year term on the Board of Selectmen for the Town of Sutton.

A graduate of Worcester Boys Trade High School, Gvazdauskas attended Northeastern University and graduated from Worcester Junior college. He holds a degree in electrical engineering and is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers. He has been self-employed as a professional electrical engineer and consultant for the past 22 years, with offices in Sutton. He received a Certificate of Achievement from the Department of Revenue, Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Gvazdauskas is a former chairman of the Sutton Town Hall Feasibility Committee and also a former member and chairman of the Sutton Board of Assessors. He is presently Chairman of the Concerned Taxpayers of Sutton.

He and his wife Marina have lived in Sutton since 1975. He has been interested and active in all phases of local town government since his residency. He is also a member of the Sutton Men's Club Bowling League.

In announcing his candidacy, Gvazdauskas said his main reason for running for Selectman is to give the town back to the taxpayers. "In fiscal years 1991 and 1992," he said, "20% of the taxpayers filed applications for tax abatements. That is an unacceptable number; over twice what the average should be. A graphic indication that something was and is wrong. This situation prompted a group of taxpayers to form an organization called 'Concerned Taxpayers of Sutton.' Only after months of negotiations and a pending lawsuit costing the Town and taxpayers much needless expenditures, did the property valuations get resolved." Gvazdauskas says this situation will not happen again if he is elected Selectman.

Gvazdauskas also said he is concerned that the residents and taxpayers of Sutton are not being truly represented in all phases of town government and that they do not have knowledge and control of town officials and town issues. He said one of his goals is to have all town records and reports accessible to the taxpayers and residents. He also wants to create a "User Friendly Town Hall where all town officials are accessible and helpful to all town residents; and," he said, "where preference for town jobs and positions goes to town residents."

Candidates, please note!

The last date for submitting candidate announcements for the upcoming Millbury town election is Friday, April 2. No announcements will be printed for the Millbury election after the April 8 edition.

The deadline for announcements for the Sutton Town Election is March 26. No announcements for the Sutton election will be printed after the April 1 edition.

In addition, no letters to the Editor in support of or in opposition to any candidate or any issues coming up for a vote in either the Millbury or Sutton elections will be published after the April 8th edition.

Insurance hoax aimed at Veterans

MILLBURY - Millbury Veterans Agent Phil Buso has issued the following announcement on what he said is, "an insurance hoax that first appeared more than 40 years ago" and continues to plague the VA, this time with a new target - active duty military personnel.

VA's Regional Office and Insurance Center in Philadelphia reports that requests from military personnel for a non-existent insurance dividend have increased since the Persian Gulf War.

"For many years," Buso wrote, "the principal victims of the rumor were World War II and Korean Conflict veterans who were told that VA was sending a check for hundreds of dollars, a so-called insurance dividend, to any veteran who requested it. In more recent years, however, bogus brochures have been targeting veterans of the Vietnam Era. The current hoax focuses on holders of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance.

"The phony applications claim dividends or refunds have been recently authorized by Congress. In fact," Buso said, "there is no such dividend for veterans who do not keep their insurance in force, nor a rebate for active duty military personnel. No legislation has been proposed in Congress."

Buso said VA's legitimate insurance dividends are paid annually to current policyholders, usually on the anniversary date of the policy. Some 34.5 million veterans share in an annual dividend distribution. Payments are automatic to those who continue to pay premiums, and no application is needed.

Lenten Service

GRAFTON - "Our Christian Heritage," a video showing the christian background against which this country was founded, will be shown at the Lenten service at the Union Congregational Church of South Grafton on Sunday, March 28 at 7 p.m. under the direction of the Standing Committee. MILLBURY - Tryouts for Millbury's Senior League traveling team will be held Saturday, April 3 at the Millbury High School Gym. Ages 14 and 15 will tryout at 10 a.m. Ages 13 at 11:30 a.m. Players currently on a team do not have to try out.

Stay well clinic in Sutton

SUTTON - Beginning Tuesday, April 6, the District Nursing Society Sutton Public Health Nurse will be at the Board of Health Office on Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. She will conduct a blood pressure clinic from 11:30 a.m. to noon at the Sutton Council on Aging each Tuesday. This clinic will replace the Friday 12:30-1:00 p.m. clinics. The clinic on Tuesdays is free and open to the public.

Parent program offered in Millbury Schools

MILLBURY - The Millbury Public School System is offering a series of evening programs for parents of children ages three through five years. Children do not need to be enrolled in a preschool to attend.

The programs will be presented by Dr. Edward Ladon, Child Psychologist. There is no charge to attend. Funding has been provided by an Early Childhood Special Education Grant. Ladon will speak on a number of issues involving raising young children. Topics such as "increasing self-esteem," "guiding your child's behavior," "getting along with brothers and sisters" and "encouraging independence" will be covered.

The programs will take place in the Media Center at the Elmwood Street School on Thursday evenings April 8, 15, 29 and May 13 from 7:15-8:45 p.m. You may attend one, two, three or all four evenings.

There will be ample time for questions and many practical suggestions offered for dealing with young children. All Millbury parents and caregivers are invited. For further information, call Linda Oroszko, School Psychologist, at 865-3541.

Education Express Program

MILLBURY - The Millbury Public Schools have recently learned of the great numbers participating in the Big Y's Education Express Program. As of March 1, it has been reported that the following numbers of points have been earned: Elmwood Street School (#1754) 263,309 points; R.E. Shaw School (1713) 189,010 points; Millbury High School (#1714) 355,789 points. The schools offer their thanks to all who are supporting this program.

Committee Pares Budget

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - The March 17 School Committee meeting was largely taken up with budget deliberations that resulted in a motion to send a budget totalling $6,527,488 to the Finance Committee. This represents a .795% increase over last year's budget. The committee began the meeting 2.56% over FinCom's recommended level funding. The following contributed to the reduced budget:

- approval of extended leaves of absence for one year for two teachers, Deborah Lacey and Sandra Wellens, estimated to save $55,000. These positions will be filled by permanent substitutes.
- $500 cut in the testing materials budget;
- the elimination of one high school teaching position, representing about $40,000;
- Reduction in the line item for the Quest program by $1,000 thanks to the generosity of the Lions Club;
- $10,000 from the substitute teacher's account;
- $500 from the Out of State Travel Account.

Committee Chairman Chet Hanratty recommended a cut in the $7,000 sought by Superintendent Richard Palermo for a Management Advisory Audit.

In arguing against the cut, Palermo said, "Within the last couple of days, I've looked at the Athletic Budget in particular. I'm concerned with some real potential problems. I need a good handle on this."

The Committee voted to cut the $7,000 by $3,500.

Also present at the meeting was High School Principal Dan Carmody. Palermo said he invited Carmody in order to begin the scheduling process for the 1993-94 school year as early as possible.

Carmody spoke of a small class size for students entering the ninth grade in the fall. The figure given was 88, taking into account 115 students and the anticipated acceptance of 27 out of 35 of these students who have applied to Blackstone Valley Tech. "There are a lot of unknowns right now," Carmody said, noting several times during the discussion that the figures have not as yet been processed through the computer.

Adult Ed Program

A brief discussion arose over funding the Adult Education Program. While tuitions have been sufficient to pay for the salaries of the instructors, only a portion of the director's salary has been funded by tuitions, with the remainder paid by the school committee.

School Committeewoman Jane Pojani said she did not feel the school committee should continue to fund the position. "I was told it was paid by tuitions, but it hasn't been," she said. "The school budget is for the children."

Committeeman Alan Marble suggested that the program be eliminated next year if it is not proven to be self-sustaining.

Business Manager Sue Pierce said the program has not been self-sustaining for many years, "even prior to the current director."

It was decided to invite Adult Ed Director Bob Sullivan to the next meeting to discuss the issue.

Candidates for Principal

Palermo addressed the selection process for choosing a replacement for retiring Principal Daniel Carmody. He said he hopes to attract some good candidates with advertisements placed in major newspapers.

Sixteens applications were received as of the 17th, with two anticipated from within the Millbury school system.

Palermo said he would like to establish a search committee composed of teachers, parents, a principal, the administrator of special services, a student, and one member of the community who does not have children enrolled in the public schools.

Hanratty recommended four members at large for the committee.

Palermo said he would be selecting individuals "who could make good judgements and respect confidentiality." The search committee will interview 8-10 candidates from a culled list provided by the superintendent.

Miscellaneous

- The lease for the use of Windle Field will be up June 1. Hanratty suggested meeting with a representative of the company to see if they are willing to renew the lease.

- Palermo called the March 16 turnout for a Coffee with the Principal "fantastic." Some 80 parents attended.

Addenda

Under Addenda, Pojani asked the chairman why the discussion of the resignations of Principals Carmody and Kelton Johnson were not listed under "Resignations and Leaves" at the committee's March 1 meeting.

Hanratty replied that he was "technically correct" in that Carmody and Johnson came forward with packages containing "letters of intent to retire" as part of collective bargaining demands.

Pojani also said the committee should have told Ed Cooney, reporting on the meeting for the Chronicle, that they would be returning to open session following the executive session for collective bargaining. [The Open Meeting law requires that "the presiding officer" states "before the executive session if the governmental body will reconvene after the executive session."]

"We should have said we will come back into open session," Hanratty agreed. "I made a mistake."

School Committee member Barbara Tuttle said she agreed with Pojani that the issue of the resignations should have been mentioned under the agenda item "resignations."

"I did not realize it was part of a package," she said.

Hanratty told Tuttle to look at the minutes.

"We should have said there may be resignations," said Pojani.

"Technically, there were none at that time," said Hanratty.

The committee adjourned to executive session for collective bargaining, not to return to open meeting.

gave them medication and how they're supposed to take it? What if you take it twice as often as you're supposed to, I ask. Shouldn't that make you feel twice as good, heal twice as fast? 'No,' they say, 'it will make you sick.' 'The same is true with steroids,' I tell them. 'Steroids were made for a specific use for someone who is sick. If you're not sick, what are the steroids going to do to you?' I'll let them answer the question."

With respect to alcohol, Webb again stresses to the students that it's not the alcohol itself that causes problem but the abuse of the substance. "I'll have the smallest kid stand next to me," he explained, "and tell him if he takes alcohol there is a good chance something might happen; it could stunt his growth for example. 'Do you want to stay that size,' I ask, 'or do you want to grow to be as big as I am?' Is it worth taking the chance of taking an inch off your height?' 'No way,' they say. It's another reason why they'll think twice now. And then you tell them that their parents are already grown now and there is nothing wrong with using alcohol as long as they don't abuse it. This way here, they're not looking down at their parents because there's nothing wrong with their parents having a drink."

Role playing in the program involves placing the students in situations where they have to come up with solutions for avoiding the temptations of alcohol and tobacco. "Say everybody's on their way home from a basketball game and smoking? How do you handle that?" he asked. "We divide the class into four or five groups and let them find a way to say 'no.' We have 8 different ways to say 'no,' and we'll practice them. They get practical experience like, 'How do I get out of it without looking like a chicken?'"

The D.A.R.E. program is being funded in its first year through community donations. It is hoped that subsequent years will be funded by grants applied for through the School Department. Webb has been writing letters and contacting civic groups and businesses for help. While the response to his request for assistance has been good, his ability to provide the students with the needed supportive supplies hinges on additional monetary support from the community.

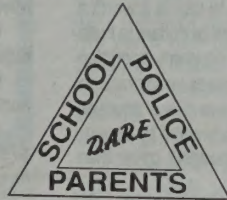

"We have a big graduation and each child has to write a poem on why they are taking a stand against drugs. We make it a big to-do," Webb explained, "invite town officials and businesses that have helped us out. We give them a certificate. We give the kids pencils for their workbooks, frisbees, little subtle reminders of the program. For the kid who can't play basketball, we tell them, here's a frisbee. I explain that they can throw the frisbee just as well as the kid whose playing basketball. 'See, there are some things you're good at,' I can tell them."

Small, individual donations could provide a student with a number of teaching aids. Following are individual prices for some of the needed items: pencils, 15 cents each; D.A.R.E. pins, 22 cents each; bumper stickers, 15 cents each; fuzzy bear stickers, $11 for 250; rulers, 40 cents each; student name tags, $11 for 100; bookmarks, $19 for 500; graduation certificates, 10 cents each; lapel pin for parents at graduation, $1.00 each; tee-shirts, $3.80 each; workbooks $1.25 each. Donations can be sent to Sergeant Webb c/o the Millbury Police Department.

cost that much, and they boost their self-esteem. A lot of the stuff I've spent my own money on. It averages out between $7-$10 a child if you're going to get them everything. I'd like to be able to take them on field trips, to Riverside or Fenway Park."

Webb's enthusiasm over the program is evidenced in his animation when speaking of his hopes for the children who will graduate from D.A.R.E. and his willingness to expand the program to any area towns willing to provide the funding. "I've been out on the street," he said. "The kids know I've seen firsthand what drugs and alcohol can do. That gives me credibility. When I walk in they listen to what I have to say."

In order to qualify to teach the D.A.R.E. program, Webb underwent an intensive two week training program with days that began at 8 a.m. and ended at 10 p.m. "Not everyone makes it through the program," he said. "It's very intense. I've been in police business for 14-15 years now. I had kind of developed the attitude of 'If you need me, you'll call me.' When you get into this type of program you see the impact you can have on children and you see some of the past graduates. For me to sit down at the table and have lunch with the students, they feel so great that I took the time to do that instead of just driving by in the cruiser. Half the time we don't even wave. It's not that we don't want to, it's just that other things are on our mind. You don't realize how much these little things mean to the children until you start a program like this. It was a very eye-awakening experience for me. I always thought I was doing a decent job as a police officer, and now I can see how much more that I haven't been doing. And it's not that it would take any more money or any more time," he stressed, "it's just taking the time to look and listen to people in town, especially the children."

What will be the measure of success of this program? "Later on down the line we'll know," Webb said. "Your whole life is making responsible decisions. If we teach them now how to make responsible decisions, it will affect them later on in the workplace and in their homes. I can guide them, but it's very important that it's not just me with the children. We have to have the support of the schools, the parents, the community. The biggest thing about this program," he said, "is that we teach the children that they can make their own decisions and the consequences of those decisions."

Bud Gurney, president of the Waters Farm Preservation, Inc., explained that the farm, consisting of 120 acres, was accepted in 1970 by the selectmen and was under the authority of the Conservation Commission. He said the farm is becoming a gathering place for the town, hosting the Boy Scouts and many other activities including, this year, a Blue Grass Festival, a Civil War re-enactment, Waters Farm Day, and a sleigh rally.

Gurney said he applied to the Blackstone Valley Corridor for funds and was given a $40,000 grant, $30,000 to be used in the reconstruction of a historic barn and $10,000 to repair the house. The organization has raised $40,000 in matching funds.

Gurney applauded the cooperation between town agencies and the Society, which he credited for the success of the project.

Board Chairman Wally Johnson thanked the many members of the Preservation Society present for the signing for their dedication and work in preserving this landmark for Sutton.

Capital Improvements & Capital Expenditure Exclusions

The board decided to seek a $192,000 "Capital Expenditure" override to pay for painting the Town Hall, two new cruisers for the Police Department, and two dump trucks and a backhoe for the Highway Department. All of these items can no longer be deferred. During a discussion of which budget items to include on a Capital Exclusion Override and which to fund or pass over, board members began a discussion exploring the actual dollar costs to the taxpayers related to constructing and operating a transfer station.

The discussion over the cost of operating the transfer station occurred when LaBonte noted that the town has serious capital expenses arising and little by way of resources to pay for them. He said he was opposed spending Sutton's tax money on operating a transfer station.

Johnson, who also serves on the Solid Waste Committee, said that everyone is responsible for disposing of their waste whether through private haulers or through the transfer station. He said the solid waste committee concluded that "doing it through the town, the individual homeowner is getting by cheaper."

Blois said the figure is estimated to be $200 per household that uses the transfer station.

In answer to a question from Connor, Blois said that if every user of the landfill paid $200 per year, it would not cost the town anything to operate the transfer station, assuming that all present landfill users continued to use the landfill if the fees were raised to $200 per year.

Johnson said he felt the town would make a big mistake if it got out of the landfill business because no one can predict what will happen to waste disposal in the future.

Connor asked what the cost will be to the taxpayer for construction of the transfer station and asked why that cost is not added into the cost of waste disposal to residents. She suggested that the cost of widening the road leading to the transfer station has not been added to the cost.

Blois agreed that the road would have to be widened to accommodate trucks that would be carrying waste from the landfill site because at present no truck can make the turn required to enter the site.

"We passed an override last year - one for the cap, one for the transfer station," LaBonte said. "If we build that transfer station, the yearly operating cost will be upwards of $200,000 to $250,000 a year from what is now an operating cost of $80,000 a year. If we were charging people today what it cost for a dump sticker for those who use it, you'd be charging $65 - $70 dollars a sticker. You add in that cost, and you're saying $200, and my guess is if you added in everything it's going to cost to maintain and run that whole thing, you're talking $300-$350. My contention," he continued, "is the town shouldn't be in the landfill business; the town should get out of the landfill business and utilize those funds for educational needs, public safety needs, and other needs this community's going to be facing in the next few years. I think it's insane to stay in the landfill business at these kinds of costs."

Strieby said he feels the town has a public duty to provide a place to discharge trash for those who do not wish to hire a private hauler at $200 per year.

Johnson said the solid waste committee came to the conclusion that a transfer station was the way to go. He also said the committee sold their program to the public. He said the time for those who opposed the transfer station to present their arguments was before the people voted on the project last year.

Connor disagreed with Johnson, saying that the solid waste committee has only presented pieces of the picture. "We have yet to see the total picture," she said. "People have yet to have the total picture, and I don't care if we sold it to people, we have to look at the total picture at some point."

"The cheapest way that townspeople are going to get rid of their rubbish is the way we've designed this to go," Johnson said.

"I spend $200 per year because I don't like driving to the landfill," Connor said. "For twenty dollars, half the people drive to the landfill. How many people won't drive to the landfill for $200 dollars? That's a question we can't answer. That's going to affect the cost." (The $200 per year sticker figure is based on the number of present sticker holders divided by the operating cost of the transfer station. The fewer the number of residents there are going to the transfer station, the greater the cost of the sticker.)

Connor said she presently has a sticker in case she wants to go to the landfill but would not buy one if the cost increases to $200. She added that the newer families moving in to Sutton are mostly two income families, many of whom would rather hire a hauler than go to the landfill. She said she feels responsible for the fact that the vote for the station was so overwhelming last year, yet residents do not have a complete picture of the full cost of the transfer station.

LaBonte then asked, "How many of those people (who voted for the transfer station) knew we'd be coming back and saying, 'Now, on top of this we need this to operate it; we're going to need this to expand your road over there to make it feasible for trucks to get in and out.'"

"I'll be honest with you," Connor said, "I feel the solid waste committee has been reluctant to answer some of the questions out there."

Johnson argued that the questions were not asked.

LaBonte said he feels it is the responsibility of the selectmen to ask these questions when "we see the cost expanding, and we see other problems arising, to say 'Is it worth it to the Town of Sutton to spend 'x' amount of dollars to build a transfer station, 'x' amount of dollars on yearly operating expenses, 'x' amount of dollars to bring roads up to grade so they can be used for this when we have these priorities (referring to the list of capital priorities submitted by departments for consideration on this year's budget), better than half of which we can't meet this year.'"

Connor said she did not want to vote tonight, but wants to get a better feel of what people really want. She said she hoped to be able to put a referendum question on the ballot with some figures for residents to consider.

LaBonte said the town does not presently charge the landfill user the full cost of operating the facility. He said the $25 dollar fee generates only $30,000 of the $80,000 it costs to operate the landfill. "Those who use the dump," he said, "are being subsidized to the tune of $50,000 today by those who don't use the dump," adding that he had no quarrel with that. "But what I'm saying," LaBonte continued, "is that when you increase that subsidy up to $200 or $300 dollars a year, I think you're crazy."

Johnson said that tax dollars spent on other items instead of the landfill still come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Connor said if she thought the taxpayer understood that, she would go along with it. However, she wants to be certain that residents understand that the money they spend on the landfill will not allow the town to buy a fire truck or improve education.

LaBonte commented that the selectmen will never vote to raise dump stickers to $200 per year.

Connor suggested that residents should be asked what they will be willing to pay to use the transfer station.

Strieby asked why there are no citizen petitions opposing the project if people are so concerned with the cost.

Gravison said that residents do not know all the figures associated with the cost of running a transfer station.

Blois said the town needs to have a site assessment before it can apply for an extension to operate the landfill beyond December 31, 1993, and this must occur before July 15, 1993. He said if the town applies for an extension, it will be granted on the basis that the town "a) has the appropriations to build a transfer station, and we do; b) we've got the money to operate the transfer station; and c) how long is it going to take to put that transfer station in operation beyond January 1. If it's going to be three years beyond January 1," he said, "we're not going to get the extension. If we can have that transfer station operating in late '94, we'd be in good straits." He said that the solid waste committee has talked to Frank Rubbish Removal on costs to operate a temporary transfer station and to dump at Wheelabrator.

Johnson said he feels the town has an obligation to provide residents with a location for trash disposal. "If I have to pay D'Auteuil $15 or $20 a month to get rid of my trash, and I can get rid of it through the town for $40 dollars a month, I think I'm going to choose to go that route, and, for those who choose not to use the landfill, you can't make them; that's their problem," he said.

To a question from Connor, Blois said that presently 1,950 stickers have been sold of which there are many duplicates. Connor suggested asking the sticker holders if they would buy a sticker for $100.

Johnson suggested placing an article on the warrant which would stipulate what amount would be needed to operate a transfer station and how it would be raised. He also said the town should allow the residents to decide.

Blois said that there is not enough money included in the annual budget for operation of the transfer station. He explained that from the $80,000 presently budgeted for the landfill, $30,000 has to be deducted to pay for the continual annual site testing that must be done for the next 30 years. He said that the total cost to operate the transfer station is $300,000 per year which includes tipping fees, operation, trucking, etc.

"That's what irritates me," Gravison said, "these numbers keep increasing."

Blois told the board that the town will have to seek an override to finance the cost of operating the transfer station because there are no funds available for it in the present budget.

The discussion then centered on the effect voting for this override would have on the capital expenditure override that the town must seek to fund priority items.

"This is not something we should be wasting the taxpayer's money on," LaBonte commented.

"But I don't know that it's a waste of money 'til I get the whole picture," Connor responded. She added that she does not feel that enough information will be available by April to allow the residents to make an informed decision. "It's going to be another blind, leap of faith," she said.

Strieby said that is why he would like to see it placed on the town meeting warrant.

Blois noted that if the town approves the override, then the town must have an election within 45 days. He said a special election cost $3,000.

Connor remarked that that is the cost of the body armor requested by the police department.

Gravison said he has not seen enough of the accurate numbers to be able to arrive at a proper vote.

Johnson said the town has already voted to spend $750,000 for the construction of the transfer station. He said he is aware that figure will actually be closer to $500,000.

Blois said that though the figure may be less than $750,000, he did not have enough confidence to reduce that number.

LaBonte said that people should understand that they will no longer be paying only $25 for a dump sticker though he felt that charging users $300 per year is out of the question.

Gravison noted that only half of the residents presently pay the $25 for the dump sticker and wondered how many will drop out if the cost increases.

LaBonte argued that fewer people will use the transfer station if the cost to have a hauler dispose of their trash is half the cost of the sticker.

Blois said Grafton has municipal pick-up, and noted that Spencer is now out of the landfill business.

LaBonte said the town must look at its priorities over the next five years. He said he would prefer to spend his money on paying for town priorities.

Johnson said he maintains that one priority is getting rid of the rubbish.

In answer to Connor's question, Blois said the cost on the tax rate would be $2.00 per thousand per year plus the cost of the sticker. She said that if the cost of disposing of waste is cheaper with a transfer station, then the town should do it.

The selectmen decided to leave the article on the town warrant but did not vote to support or oppose the article at this time.

The selectmen will continue the discussion at their next meeting when more definitive figures can be provided by the Solid Waste Committee.

Miscellaneous

- Board member Mary K. Connor said it was her intention in comments made at a previous meeting to meet with George D'Auteuil, owner of Frank Rubbish Removal, to explore how his proposal to the Solid Waste Committee would work and how much it would cost. Blois said the board should meet first with the Solid Waste Committee.

Connor agreed, "I think it would be helpful to have a report," she said, adding she would like to learn why Solid Waste felt the town should not go with D'Auteuil's proposal.

Snow Removal

- Blois told the board that the March blizzard cost the town close to $15,000 for snow removal. "The rough estimate of the 'Snow Removal Account' is $20,000 in the hole and climbing," he said, adding that the figure does not include overtime wages for highway department personnel which is taken from the "Highway Department Operating Account."

Strieby explained that if the town goes over its snow removal budget, that amount is automatically tacked on to next year's budget. "We're $20,000 in the hole before we open the books," he said.

The town may qualify for 75% federal reimbursement but that money will not be returned to the towns for several years.

The board granted a Common Victualer's license to Honey Dew Donuts which will be located near the Burbank Industrial Park on Rt. 146. Michael Seadia, one of the owners of the franchise donut shop, was present to explain that the plans include a traffic pattern bringing vehicles and trucks off of Rt. 146.

Selectman Rick LaBonte announced that Congressman Richard Neal will hold a "Town Meeting" on Monday, April 5 at the Sutton Elementary School Auditorium. Neal will make a brief presentation, then be available to answer any questions or hear comments from the audience. The meeting is open to the public.

Malcolm Pearson, Chairman of the Historical Commission, reported that his committee, which was voted at the 1992 Annual Town Meeting, is not intended to prepare a program for the 300th Anniversary to be celebrated in 2004, but, is, rather, a committee which is to prepare a history of the town. He recommended that the committee be called the "History Committee." He said preparing a history is a long, tedious job involving a great many people with a variety of talents. The committee plans to be the core which will recruit this talent and oversee the various projects which will lead to the publication of the history. The history should be published several years before the actual celebration.

The selectmen unanimously approved the appointment of Malcolm Pearson, Ruth Putnam, Mary King, Ethel O'Day, and Tom Johnson to the committee.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

As I look out "My Window" today, all I see are snow banks, but possibly by the time you read this, they will be gone. We have had ourselves a good old-fashioned New England winter this year, and I love it. I know that it has been a real hardship on many, especially our town budget, for snow removal, but our Highway Department has done a most commendable job. Thank you for keeping our roads open and as safe as possible. The little plow could not handle the sidewalks and it has a habit of digging up front lawns. What is needed is some kind of snow blower for that job.

Speaking of snowblowers, I have had a ball with mine.

Thanks to a service right here in Millbury, I have been able to keep it going. Our neighborhood has gotten together and we have worked together very nicely to help each other get our driveways opened up.

The Bible says to "Enter into the mysteries of the snow." Did you know that every one of those snow flakes is unique and has its own distinct design? Our God made each and every one of them for His own purpose, and He has done the same with each and every one of you. You are a special design from Him.

We are also called to "reason together. Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow." We have not only a God Who has made us unique for His purposes, but when we sin and fall short of those purposes, He can and will forgive us and enable us to fulfill His purposes for our lives. Amen.

Millbury students successfully defend title as State Champs

MILLBURY - On Friday, February 26, Roger Desrosiers' junior U.S. History Honors Class defended its title as Massachusetts State champions for the National Bicentennial Competition on the Constitution and Bill of Rights. The state finals were held this year at Boston University. The Millbury students won a narrow victory over Chatham High School.

Competition rules require that each class or team be divided into six units with a minimum of three per unit. Because the class size this year is only 14, it was necessary for either four students to do double the work or, as the students chose, for the entire class to do the same amount of work. Therefore, each student will be a member of two units. This year's state champions are: Michele Brownell, Amy Cauldwell, Elizabeth Crehan, Kris Gauthier, David Gordon, Rachel Kupcinkas, Katie Lavallee, Andrew Mason, Jen Morency, Tricia Nielsen, Erin O'Leary, Matthew Pappas, Alexis Rochefort, and Terrie Tellier.

In order to compete in the national finals, the students must raise funds. In the past, the generosity of the Millbury community, its townspeople, organizations and businesses has been incredible. This year, the students will hold a tag day on Saturday, March 27, in front of several businesses as well as the transfer station. It is hoped that along with an Easter bunny and candy bar sale that a sufficient amount can be raised for the trip to Washington.

The students are now working on a new set of questions to prepare for the national finals. A mock congressional hearing will be held on Tuesday, April 6 with the Washington competition against at least 45 state teams on May 1-3.

Spring Spruce up Day

SUTTON - Spring Spruce Up Day at the Cedar Swamp Nature Trail will be held on Sunday, April 4, at 1 p.m. The trail is located behind the Sutton Elementary School on Boston Road. Many hands are needed to clear and widen the trail for the upcoming season. Helpers are encouraged to wear work gloves and boots and to bring pruning tools.

Family Nature Day

SUTTON - The Sutton PTA is sponsoring Family Nature Day on Sunday, May 2, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Cedar Swamp Nature Trail immediately after the Little League Parade. Activities will include family ponding, nature crafts, storytelling, fiddle music and folk songs, a scavenger hunt, games, seedlings for sale, and food! Enjoy a fun-filled day outdoors with friends and family.

MORIN from Page 8

run and hide, life must go on; you just have to be aware of what's out there, and act accordingly. We'll survive! Think positive, have a nip now and then, and don't worry about the creek rising.

I LOVE THIS ONE: There was a 200 pound squaw sitting on the hide of a hippopotamus. Opposite her, sitting on two separate hides were the two sons of friends of hers, each weighing about 100 lbs. Therefore, it stands to reason that the squaw on the hide of the hippopotamus is equal to the sons of the squaws on the other two sides. Get it? Geometry, algebra.

Sixteen cats, five dogs, 24 birds...and a partridge in a pear tree. Yup! The above were removed recently from a home in Petersburg, NY. How about that? That's a lot of mouths to feed! Didn't smell like a bed of roses in that neighborhood, I betcha! Just kidding though on the partridge in the pear tree. Mon Dieu! Again we say, it do take all kinds to make this world of ours spin round and round.

QUESTION: How is it possible to lower THE DEBT when you keep on spending and adding to THE DEBT? Having a hard time figuring that one out! Ross, go get 'em. Anyone joining Ross' $15 a year club? Did you all see that list of perks that the pols get? Wow! what benefits, what pay, what insurance, what a pension plan!

HE AIN'T HEAVY... That kiddo who was told to remove his pet pot bellied pig from his apartment near Boston way felt bad. "He was like family to me, like a brother, someone, somebody to come home to...."

"Out with the pig!" sayeth the landlord.

DIRTY DISHES? Nay, nay! There's still talk about those fancy, hand painted, lead-laden sets of dishes we have bought over these last few years. Yup! Loaded with lead. The warning is still out. Don't use 'em, hang them on the wall instead, that's what they say.

IT'S NOT only one tax hike that people are worried about, it's the other taxes on other items that's worrying the people. Fuel tax, a possible national sales tax, health tax. Lord, give us a break! There'll be nothing left in the pay with which to enjoy the recession.

A SCOTTISH guy made a trip to the Holy Land. The guide told the group that it was on this particular lake that Jesus walked on the water. The Scotsman told the guide that he would like to rent a boat and spend an hour on the lake meditating about Jesus walking on the water. He asked, "How much do they charge to rent a boat?"

"Fifteen dollars an hour," said the guide.

"Fifteen dollars? No wonder Jesus walked on the water," responded the Scotsman.

YOU WANNA PLAY? You're going to have to pay! Yup! Governor Weld, et al, would like all unwed fathers to sign their child's birth certificate, acknowledging that they are the father. It would save a lot of time and money tracking you guys down. You can always invoke the 5th, the amendment, that is!

ADDENDUM... John A. of Millbury, we like your idea of everybody quitting cigarettes. Like you say, imagine the tax loss the country would face? Now, not only the smokers, but all will have to dig deeper and support all those programs that the smokers were supporting. Blood pressure units making their presence known now in some supermarkets. Now you can check it yourself.

DIS 'N DAT!

WHY? A guy shoots and kills a store clerk, is charged with manslaughter, gets five to six years, is released, arrested again and shoots a police officer. WHY is alimony tax deductible and union dues aren't? WHY do some motels, hotels and stores hide cameras in their establishments, hide them through peepholes, spying on the unsuspecting public? Bedrooms, gyms, locker rooms, dressing rooms aren't as private as one would think, are they? There oughta be a law. You know, invasion of privacy! WHY do they advertise something and run out of it when you get there? WHY do we put up with this weather and not move to warmer climates? I know why, we can't afford it, that's why! WHY do we complain so much?

JUST CURIOUS... wondering if those Native Americans who are running that big gambling casino set up at Ledyard, Connecticut are sharing some of their bounty with their brethren on other reservations out West? From what we hear and read, the reservations are hurting, a lot of suffering going on there; it's tough for them.

SCHOOL DAYS! What with all the holidays, federal and state, spring vacations, snow days, rain days, conventions, etc, it sure doesn't leave many days of actual schooling, does it?

HE'S A SMART COOKIE, that PeeWee! You bet. He was "watching" a dog show recently out New York way. He looked at me as if to say, "Hey, Morin! I don't want to watch these sissy dogs parading around, making fools of themselves. Get me the rasslin' channel!" That's me mutt! He's smarter than the whole bunch put together!

C'MON, NOW, let's not get carried away!

A new bar opened in Washington, DC recently called "Slick Willie's." Probably run by a defeated, disgusted Republican! But you gotta admit, Willie wasn't honest with us, was he, during the campaign, what with the promises of no new taxes for the middle class, etc. But do we honestly expect politicians to be truthful with us, no matter who? We did get a change, though, and I think it's great. It certainly is about time we did.

"HEY, MA! I'm taking PeeWee to the vet to get his nails clipped, you wanna come?"

"No thanks, Joe. I'll go see me own doctor!"

If the press didn't tell us, who would?

Yup! That's me mom, always with a quick comeback!

SPEAKING OF the vet, something struck me funny recently. There I was with PeeWee, and another couple was there; I assume man and wife, no pets. The vet called out their name, they both walked in. Who gets the rabies shot? Or worm test? Or distemper shot? The man or the wife? Just curious!

DEEPLY moving editorial photo recently showed a drawing of Christ, His back turned, hands in His face, crying! Four others were shown, one holding a bible, the other a hand grenade, others holding machine guns and bombs. The caption: "Killing, murdering in the name of God, and Allah!" Sad, isn't it? Using the Almighty as a reason to kill, to "purify" in His name. Lord, forgive them for they know not what they do. Would like a copy. Did anyone see it in the Washington Post? Is there a copy out there?

NOW WHAT? Chrome domes? Now they're saying that balding guys could be more prone to heart attacks than those with a full head of hair! Do you believe that? First it was eggs, smokes, bacon, milk, schnapps, now it's your chrome dome that could do a job on you if you're not careful. Good grief! Who to believe, what to believe, it's just plain crazy.

MRS. HILLARY CLINTON, who appointed you as keeper of the health? 'Tis you, I believe, who is suggesting that cigs, alcohol, etc., sometimes called "sin stuff," be taxed and taxed out of proportion? You do not have authority to tell people what to do, how to live, how to behave; t'ain't your line of work. You are the Prez's wife, no more, no less. Go jogging with the Prez, attend to your tea parties, play the role you're supposed to play, and stop buzzing in your hubby's ear on how to tax the smokers, the drinkers, the over-

Now this is what you call teamwork.

Good teamwork gets things done.

And there's no better example of it than an independent community bank working hand-in-hand with local people, businesses and communities.

As a locally owned and operated bank, our aim is to keep the economy in this area as strong as possible.

To do that, we offer competitive interest rates to attract your deposits.

And then — because we're free of outside control — we invest your deposits locally to help you, your neighbors and your communities.

It's teamwork.

Local teamwork.

The kind that benefits all of us in countless ways.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with MGL Chapter 40A, the Sutton Planning Board will hold a public hearing on Monday, April 12, 1993, at 7:30 PM, in the Municipal Center, to review the proposed amendment to the Zoning Bylaws Section 13 (Site Plan Review). The proposed amendment would delete the second paragraph of Section 13.4 "Site Plan and Supporting Material Requirements" which reads:

"Site plans shall be prepared by a registered professional engineer, land surveyor, architect, and/or landscape architect (as necessitated by the size and detail required) at a scale of 1 inch equals 20 feet, on standard 24" x 36" sheets, with continuation on 8 1/2" x 11" sheets as necessary for written information."

and substituting in lieu thereof the following new second paragraph:

"Site plans, at a scale of 1 inch = 40 feet, shall be prepared by a registered professional engineer, land surveyor, or architect. In addition, a landscape architect may need to prepare (or assist in preparing) plans, as necessitated by the size and detail required, at a scale of 1 inch equals 20 feet, on standard 20" x 36" sheets, with continuation on 8 1/2" x 11" sheets as necessary for written information."

Mental illness has warning signs, too.

Withdrawal from social activities. Excessive anger. These could be the first warning signs of a mental illness. Unfortunately, most of us don't recognize the signs. Which is tragic. Because mental illness can be treated. In fact, 2 out of 3 people who get help, get better.

For a free booklet about mental illness and its warning signs, write to or call:

National Mental Health Association
P.O. Box 17389,

[The opinions expressed in the last paragraph absolutely DO NOT represent the views or opinions of the Editor of the Chronicle, however, we cannot speak for the Publisher! - Ed.]

A CLEAN WASH...the baptist minister was exhorting his flock, "Come, my children, get your sins washed away."

One of his congregation spoke up: "I already have, over at the Methodist Church."

"Brother," sternly replied the minister, "you ain't been washed, you've just been dry cleaned."

A BIG HULLABALOO over nothing! Well, almost nothing. We've seen much worse in the past, getting people all excited over a simple nor'easter; it was mild, to say the least. NOTICED this sign outside during the storm: "Services Canceled - Bingo still on!"

How about that $5.3 million "nursery" being added on at a local college? Suppose it's a plan to keep the young'uns busy, out of mischief. Hope it doesn't interfere with their homework. Lot of big bucks out there, me friends. Priorities, priorities!

BUMP and rob! Yup, that's the new fad going on. They rear end you, oh, just light, you get out of the car, the villains also. Then it's either a "stick 'em up" or drive away.

PLOP, PLOP, FIZZ, FIZZ! A character who swallowed 80 miniature balloons containing heroin was caught trying to smuggle the stuff in; what a bozo! They just don't learn, do they? It always comes out in the end, ayupp! They get caught!

NEEDS A LITTLE COLOR! St. Mark's in

Sutton looks great since the new addition; needs a little color to sort of "warm up" the place of worship. Some red, blue or orange drapes would really bring out the beauty of the church. Forgive me Father Horgan, I may not know what I sayeth, but I had to sayeth it anyway. IF YOU GET a chance while in Worcester on Hamilton Street, drop by, if you haven't already, take a look at St. Jo's. It's a beauty inside, something that cannot and will not be duplicated. There is a sense of peace, serenity, beauty, the presence of something that is hard to describe. That a wrecking ball could someday destroy this is incomprehensible, to say the least.

MEANING no disrespect, but we wonder if Andre the Giant, the 7' 1" tall wrestler who weighed in over 700 pounds, was cremated prior to the service. I just can't visualize six men carrying that size package into a church. Rest in peace, Andre.

I DON'T remember that far back, but they say the "Gay 90's" of the past wasn't the same as the "Gay 90's" of the present; that's what they say. Tend to believe it, though.

A NOTE TO MRS. STAHL: Received a nice letter from Sammy, said he saw his name mentioned in the column and wanted a copy; we sent it. He certainly turned out A.O.K., didn't he? Sammy had a good head on his shoulders, the kid from Manchaug made out alright. Manchaug should be proud of him!

WELL, FRIENDS, it's that time again, many thanks for the kind words sent me, really appreciate all those cards and letters of support. Keep 'em coming. We thank Alec and Andree for putting up with our shenanigans, they're good people...so aren't you all.

It's a tough world out there, ain't it? I've made mention of that fact many times, we all know it by now. But we must hang in there, do our best in any way we can to help one another; try to correct the wrong, feed those who need it, comfort them also. Maybe in my own "little way" I am contributing something, be it a smile, a thought, an idea that might or could make things a little easier. Who knows?

May the Lord bless and keep you all, and may he make a presence in your lives.

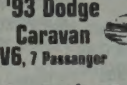

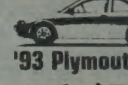

Your pal, Joseph
